Non-Newtonian fluid flow development in a circular pipe

R.C Gupta

Department of Mathematics, National University of Singapore
Singapore 0511

R.P Agarwal

Department of Mathematics, National University of Singapore
Singapore 0511

Received 10-DEC-92

Laminar non-Newtonian power-law fluid flow development in a pipe has been obtained by studying a hydrodynamically equivalent Newtonian analogue of the problem. Several integral solutions of the problem have been presented and their predictions have been compared with another similar solution.

Copyright (c) 1998 Elsevier Science B.V. All rights reserved.